Remarks on the conduct of the Student, Punctuality and Interest etc.:

Saransh was staffed on a difficult NLP problem as part of his internship work – during this time, he learned python programming for data analysis, understanding aspects of NLP and fundamentals of weak supervision for generating training data for Deep Learning models for relationship prediction between biomedical entities.

During this time, he showed interest in understanding the concepts of NLP and took the feedback given to him diligently and put in the efforts to improve his programming skills.

We wish Saransh all the best for his future endeavors.
